World's Grain Exhibition

Grain for Regina Show Must Be Free from Disease

Freedom from disease has long been recognized as an important attribute of good wheat. It is the evidence of quality in commercial grain. Samples which are exhibited at the World's Grain Show at Regina in 1932 will be carefully scrutinized very carefully for the presence of disease.

Competition will unquestionably be very keen, and it is not until the presence of disease will most certainly weigh heavily against affected samples. In fact it is very unlikely that diseased samples will win prizes.

Another fact which should be borne in mind is that there will be a double check on the exhibitors and the second of which is the primary test which will be more exacting than the first.

The presence of disease may be overlooked in the examination of the grain mainly by the judge, but it will be checked in the place grown from that seed, and all seed growers who contemplate obtaining their samples for Regina from this year's crop should exercise extreme care in the selection and treatment of their seed.

ESSENCE OF PARLIAMENT

OFFICE.—In bygone days someone might have said that the essence of the Government had been what the public service was to give, and the great Civil Service of the day, which was the only way in which its activities could be carried out, was the only way in which it could be carried out.

This year, however, the situation is different. The Government has been in office for a long time, and its activities have been carried out in a very different way. It has been in office for a long time, and its activities have been carried out in a very different way.
